42. IF YOU DO NOT ATTEND RELIGIOUS SERVICES REGULARLY:

Some observers maintain that few people are actually abandoning their religious traditions. Rather, they draw selective beliefs and practices, even if they do not attend services frequently. They are not about to be recruited by other religious groups. Their identification with their religious tradition is fairly solidly fixed, and it is to these groups that they will turn when confronted with marriage, death, and, frequently, birth.

APPENDIX A

PROJECT CANADA 1990 METHODOLOGY

1. Background

- The survey was the fourth in the Project Canada adult surveys. It was carried out by mail between approximately November 15th of 1990 and February 15th of 1991. Reginald W. Bibby was the principal investigator, assisted by Project Manager Reggie Gordon Bibby, Jr. and a number of student research assistants.
- Project Can90 was comprised of a sample of 376 people who had participated since 1975, 73 since 1980, and 342 from 1985. This ongoing core of 791 respondents was supplemented by 681 new participants. Together with Project Can75, Project Can80, and Project Can85, this survey provides 1975-80-85-90 trend and panel data.
- The funding for the survey was provided by the Lilly Endowment.

2. The Questionnaire

- As with Project Can75, Project Can80, and Project Can85 the 1990 questionnaire was constructed to provide comprehensive data pertaining to three main subject areas being investigated: social issues, intergroup relations, and religion. In order to monitor change, many of the items in the 1975, 1980, and 1985 versions were included in the questionnaire, with new items added to clarify the earlier findings as well as update the content more generally.
- Length: 15 pages; variables: about 350; completion time: 1 to 2 1/2 hours.

3. Sampling and Procedures

- The effort to locate the 1,630 people who had participated in the 1985 survey began in the summer of 1990 and continued into the winter. It appears 1,162 of the "PC85" respondents were located (71%), with 791 (68%) submitting usable questionnaires. In short, almost 50% of the 1985 sample were part of the new sample. The majority of past participants were contacted in early November.
- Based on previous survey experiences, a projected required supplemental sample of about 1,700 cases was drawn over the summer and early fall, which, when combined with the 1985 core, would produce a final sample of adequate size and sufficient representativeness to permit high accuracy generalizations to the Canadian population. As before, Canada was stratified by province and community size (>100,000, 99-10,000, <10,000), and the overall sample drawn proportionate to the national population, with 145 communities involved. Participants were randomly selected using telephone directories. As in 1980 and 1985, it was anticipated that weighting according to provincial and community size, as well as gender would be required, with age weighting required since the ongoing cores would have aged anywhere from five to fifteen years.
- Follow-up procedures were the same as used in 1985. Approximately two to three weeks after the initial mailing, the pre-paid post-card—functioning as a reminder and asking about the status of the questionnaire—was sent, followed about three weeks later by a second copy of the questionnaire, with "Second Request" stamped on its cover letter.
- In the late spring of 1991, participants were sent a thank-you post-card, informing them how the results were being disseminated, and welcoming further inquiries.

4. Response

- Number of usable questionnaires received: 1,472.
- Return rate: 61%.

We estimated it was possible for 1,240 of the “new 1985 sample” to return the questionnaire, with 681 (55%) doing so. The data collection covered four months.

The final national sample was comprised of 1,472 cases - 376 from 1975, 73 from 1980, 342 from 1985, and 681 new additions. These responses from 2,402 contacts represent a combined return rate for the ongoing cores and new participants of 61%.

5. Representativeness

- These 1,472 cases have been weighted for provincial and community size, along with gender and age. In order to minimize the use of large weight factors, the sample again was reduced to 1,251 cases.
- So weighted, the sample is highly representative of the Canadian population (see Table 1). A representative sample of this size should be accurate within about four percentage points on most items, 19 times in 20 similar surveys.
